MR. ATKINSON

HOME AGAIN

Had Comfortable Journey From Louisville and Arrived
This MorningATTACK OF APPENDICITIS
PASSED WITHOUT OPERATION

Mr. John B. Atkinson and party got home this morning, coming in special car via Guthrie and arriving here about 6:30 just two weeks from the time of his departure for Louisville in charge of his doctors and nurses and friends, all of whom expected then that there would be a surgical operation for appendicitis upon arrival at Louisville. Mr. Geo. C. Atkinson went to Louisville Sunday to arrange the return journey and brought the party home this morning. Mrs. Atkinson and daughter Nan, Paul M. Moore, Jr., Dr. A. O. Sisk and Miss Rosa Fox were of the party. Mr. Atkinson said he had slept very well and had a comfortable trip home, and that he was delighted to get home again. In spite of the early hour quite a number of friends were at the train to welcome him.

Mr. Atkinson has made remarkable recovery from an attack of appendicitis that came upon him not quite three weeks ago. His journey to Louisville and the Norton Infirmary was undertaken after Dr. Sisk had called a physician and a surgeon from Louisville into consultation with himself and Drs. Nisbet and Johnson, his associates in the profession here.

There seemed the least chance, when the party left here for Louisville, that surgery might be avoided, and this opinion continued even until after he had been in his rooms at the Infirmary for several hours. But the doctors and nurse kept him under most careful and constant observation, determined to give nature every chance to mend the matter without interference of the knife, and so, from morning to afternoon, and to morning again the decision would be "No worse, wait!" "A little better, wait!" And it passed.

On Wednesday night of the first week the patient passed through a crisis. Next morning one of the doctors said: "It was a crisis. There will be a change for the better or for worse." And it was "better." From that time, almost without hesitation the improvement continued.

What is more encouraging, Mr. Atkinson's general condition has very much improved while he passed through the attack of appendicitis and it is believed that he will now regain his strength and enjoy a greater degree of good health than he has had for the past year. Dr. Sisk and Miss Fox, the home physician and professional nurse, home folks Mr. Atkinson called them, stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson through the time of illness and recovery.

NEW LIVERY FIRM IN TOWN

C. W. Mitchell & Son Sell Livery Barn to Messrs. Evans, Price and Barnett.

A deal was made Saturday in which the well known livery firm of C. W. Mitchell & Son sold their entire outfit to Dan M. Evans, Paul P. Price and Jno. T. Barnett, all of this city. It is understood that Mr. Barnett will have the management of the concern and as he has spent the best part of his life in this business there is no doubt he will make a success of it. All three of these gentlemen in the firm are popular and have a number of friends who will be glad to do business with them. Earlington is amply large to give two good livery firms all the patronage they can well handle.

Dawson Defeats E. A. C.

In a game full of brilliant fielding the Dawson High School defeated the Earlington Athletic Club at Dawson last Saturday afternoon.

The game was full of thrills from beginning to end, and the crowd were kept on their feet all the time applauding the many bits of superb plays.

Mitchell who worked for the E. A. C. pitched unmatched ball for six innings when he became overheated and retired in favor of King who walked one man and this coupled with three wild heaves permitted the Miners to score three times enough to cinch the game by the solemn anthem of six to four after this inning he was invincible. Clark and Foster were the stars of this contest making many difficult stops, Clark's well peg to second proving the downfall of more than one of the overanxious Miners. Swindley pitched steady at all stages of the game his team mates according to him perfect support. The Athletics should have won by the score of three to four but wildness and errors at critical stages of the game proving their downfall. These boys of Earlington have dropped three games to this team when they really deserved to win when they were asked what about it, they said in a blood-thirsty way we will beat "em" if it takes us thirty years. Ardent followers of the renowned Gen. Grant these boys are.

Summary. Batteries, Dawson Swindley and Woodruff, E. A. C. Mitchell, King and Clark, struck out by King four, Mitchell seven and Swindley six, hits of King one in three innings, of Mitchell four in six innings of Swindley seven in nine innings. Umpires Finley and Long.

Earlington Defeats Crofton

In a game lasting 11 long innings Earlington battled with the strong Crofton team at that place Sunday. The game was exciting at all times, keeping the fans on their feet all the time. Fay, the Hopkinsville south paw was on the mound for Crofton, while Curtis did the receiving. Fay pitched great ball, but up against hard hitters he soon found there was something doing.

Tom Peyton, the old reliable slab artist, tossed the ball for the locals. Pitching great ball all through the game he had things going his way. Nine Crofton warriors hit the air three hard whips and sat down thinking how easy it was for local lad to throw them by. A. Gribble played a nice game at center, accepting eight chances without an error.

With the score tied in the ninth the game was forced to extra innings. It looked as if the locals would win in the tenth but good pitching by Fay retired Earlington without a score.

Lee Peyton starred at the stick, getting three hits out of five times up, consisting of two four sackers and a double securing ten bases and driving in runs ahead of him. The agony started in the eleventh when C. Mitchell hit for his safety in the game followed by Tom Peyton who hit a Texas Leaguer advancing Mitchell. Then it happened L. Peyton swatted the pill to the bushes scoring Mitchell and T. Peyton ahead of him.

EX-SENATOR M'CREEARY

Speaks at Court House in Madisonville Saturday Night.

Ex-Senator Jas. B. McCreary spoke at the courthouse in Madisonville Saturday night to a fair sized crowd. The smallness of the crowd was accounted for by excessive heat. Mr. McCreary's speech followed along lines of his address in another part of the state. Mr. McCreary was the guest of Jno. B. Braisher while in Madisonville.

To the People of Earlington

We have sold our Livery and Feed Stable to Messrs. Evans, Price and Barnett, and we wish to thank the people of Earlington for their many favors toward us while in business, for in every case we always strove to do our best toward pleasing them.

DECORATED GRAVES OF OLD SOLDIERS

At Odd Fellows Cemetery Madisonville Sunday Afternoon

REV. LEWIS MAKES ADDRESS

The graves of the old soldiers and those of Company E. of Madisonville were decorated with appropriate ceremony Sunday afternoon by the Confederate veterans, daughters of Co. E. The line of march began at the Y. M. C. A. Building at 2:30 o'clock and went direct from there to the cemetery. Considering the exceedingly warm weather there was a good crowd present, including quite a number from this place.

The ceremonies were under the auspices of the Earlington chapter U. D. C. The opening chorus was by Company E. quartette; Mayor Gatlin made a few well chosen remarks; the Y. M. C. A. quartette rendered several appropriate songs. Rev. Jno D. Lewis, of Owensboro, made a splendid address after which beautiful flowers were spread upon the graves of the dead comrades of both the old confederate and members of Company E.

Old Citizens Move to Texas

Ohas. McGary and family, one of the most popular families of this city left this morning for Texas, where they intend to make their home. They will locate in Portland, and Mr. McGary will go into business there. They have lived here for twenty-five years, and their departure is like the removal of an old landmark. Mr. McGary was chief clerk on the grocery side of the Company store, and had been with that Company for years. Their many friends regret to lose them from our midst and wish them success in their new home.

PICNIC GIVEN
OLD SOLDIERSBy the Earlington Chapter U. D. C. at Lakeside Park
Saturday.

THE AFFAIR WAS WELL ATTENDED.

The picnic given the old soldiers at lake side park this place Saturday by the Earlington Chapter U. D. C. was a great success along every line. Many of the veterans said it was one of the most pleasant they had passed in a long time, and no improvement could have been made on the many good things to eat. The majority of the Earlington Chapter were present and some fifty or sixty of the old soldiers.

Mayor H. O. Bourland made the address welcoming the confederates to our little city. A bounteous supply of well cooked food was spread on the various tables and Rev. Stanley of the Christian church returned thanks. After the dinner Dr. P. B. Davis in a stirring speech introduced the speaker of the evening Jas. B. McCreary who made a good talk along the usual lines of like gatherings. It is estimated that 250 people were present and the Earlington Chapter U. D. C. certainly deserve much credit for the business like manner in which the crowd was handled and fed. Dr. Davis as master of ceremonies kept things moving and there was something doing all the time until the crowd dispersed.

Let us have a sane Fourth This Year.

Philadelphia had a "killed and injured" list of 338 last fourth; New York and Chicago combined had a casualty list of just 55. Philadelphia's city fathers had said: "Oh, let everybody have a good time." New York and Chicago were among the "safe and sane" cities. That's the reason Misses Jeanette Napier, of Nashville, and Nell Carlin, of Evansville, will arrive Wednesday to visit Mrs. D. M. Evans.

Detective Burns Trails an Alarm Clock.

A keyhole and an alarm clock combined to furnish this country last month with a sensation which for a time cast into obscurity the warfare in Mexico, the political contests in Washington, the high price of living and the coming coronation in Great Britain. The keyhole was one in a door of Mrs. Ingersoll's boarding house in San Francisco. Inside the door, eight or nine months ago, so the story runs, two men sat talking in low tones of their plans to dynamite certain buildings. Outside the door was the inquisitive landlady with her ear to the keyhole listening.

She heard enough to arouse her suspicions, and when the building of the Los Angeles Times was soon after blown up, burying twenty-one persons in the ruins, she communicated what she had heard and gave the detectives their first clear clue. The alarm clock in the case was a very alarming one indeed. It was found under a new bridge in Peoria, Ill., an ordinary fifty-cent clock—with a slight modification. The handle that operated the alarm was missing; but in its place was a piece of bent copper wire.

Near by was a small dry battery with a ground wire and another wire running to a fuiminating charge in a two-gallon package of dynamite.

When the time for which the alarm was set arrived, the bent copper wire moved and closed the circuit. The spark of electricity was sent to the fuiminating charge. The dynamite should have exploded and wrecked the bridge. But in this case the spark was a little too weak to do what was expected of it. No explosion occurred. The clock was discovered and turned over to the detectives. An explosion came indeed, later, but not the sort originally designed. Who placed the alarm clock there? That was the problem for the detectives to solve. When the Los Angeles Times building was blown up, a clock of exactly the same kind was found, with another unexploded package of dynamite, near the home of the owner of The Times, General Harrison Grey O'Neil. Examination disclosed the use of the same make of clock in other explosions and attempted explosions in widely separated places—a church in Clinton, Indiana; a court-house in Omaha; a hotel in French Lick, Indiana, and so forth. In the last five years, in fact, seventy such attempts have been recorded by the National Erectors' Association, and "practically no part of the United States has been free" from them. Here a bridge, there a viaduct, somewhere a mill or an office building. And in each case there was a labor dispute between the builders and the labor unions.—Current Literature. (June)

Here is One That Will Make You Sit up and Take Notice.

The Whiskey people are determined to beat Judge O'Rear for Governor. He has just about as much show for the republican nomination for governor as a cat has in hell without claws. The Whiskey elements, the internal revenue gang, and the connection with each, other under the leadership of Senator Bradley, make a combination that cannot be beaten, in spite of the fact that nine out of ten of the rank and file of the republicans of the state and especially of this county, are for Judge O'Rear for the nomination and for him for governor. In this county there is not a man opposed to him, republican or democrat, but the county will be instructed for Franks and voted for Cox. That is the scheme that will be carried out to a "T" No second instructions will be given out but at the critical time will be placed in the hands of Governor Bridley and thence in the Cox column. It would be worth the head of any postmaster in the county not to line up as directed so as to deliver the votes finally to Cox. The whiskey people control both parties and both the nominees of race horses will be owned and started by the whiskey trust and you can put your money on either horse and the whiskey trust wins out either way you bet. That is jockeying some, while the people stand and look on with open mouths and wonder how it is done. Then we are asked why we favor the Initiative, Referendum and Recall. "Well, just cause we am." Nuff said.—Livingston Baquer.

TAMED AND SAVAGE

A Plucky Salesman and a Merchant With a Bad Grouch.

A salesman for a carpet house called on the proprietor of a big store. This man had a reputation for eating salesmen alive. After several unsuccessful attempts to see him the salesman decided to use desperate means to get to him. He knew that the man must buy a bill of goods, for he knew what stock he was carrying and knew that he must lay in a supply for the opening of the season. In the afternoon he called at the store and deliberately walked into owner's private office and placed a card on his table. The storekeeper did not look up from his papers for several minutes. Then he turned savagely on the salesman and said:

"Who in Sam Hill let you in? I left orders to have you thrown out if you came again."

"With that he threw the card savagely in the wastebasket. The salesman drew another from his pocket and placed it on the desk where the first had been. Without looking up from his work the buyer threw that in the wastebasket. The salesman threw down two or three other cards with the same result, and finally, almost purple with rage, the merchant turned on him:

"Well, well, well, what is it?"
"I was just thinking," said the salesman, "that if every man your salesmen called on was such an infernal ignorant, no account grouch as you are what cussed few orders they would book and how quickly you would go out of business. That's all, sir; good by."

"Hold on there a minute," broke in the grouch in a much changed tone. "I guess I owe you an apology. You are right. Let's see your line."—Bookkeeper.

You Need Stationery.

Nothing gives an individual or a firm standing in the business world like nice stationery neatly printed. The Semi-Weekly Bee job department keeps constantly on hand a fine line of letterheads, noteheads, billheads, statements and envelopes, both linen and commercial. We also do circular, invitation and catalogue work. Give us a trial. You will be pleased.

There is no Substitute.

Advertising pays if the man that has something to sell so regulates his advertising as to convince the people that it is worth buying.

All the substitutes for newspaper advertising can be easily avoided or disregarded by people, the advertiser tries hardest to attract the man or woman that can afford to buy.

They do not stand gaping at bill-boards, and they do not bother with circulars in the mail because they are too busy, but their old friend, the newspaper, is taken into the inmost privacy of the family circle. It is discussed at the breakfast table and at the supper; it is read at leisure in the evening, and its pages are scrutinized with the interest born of long habit and discriminating taste.

An advertisement in that newspaper goes into the family circle and cannot be excluded. It is welcome because it is a part of something else that is welcome, and it goes there at the very time when the occasional domestic economical council takes place. There is no substitute for the newspaper advertising.

Health Hint for Today.

Cooking Kills Germs.
Unless you are reasonably certain that the meat you eat has been carefully inspected and declared free from disease germs you should see that the meat is thoroughly cooked.

Thorough cooking kills dangerous micro-organisms—that is, it destroys the germs that might infect you or some member of your family whose physical condition at the time of eating infected food was such that the germ found ready lodgment and easy soil upon which to work.

Cleanliness in the kitchen, it is needless to say, is absolutely necessary. If you take care of your own kitchen you will see that it is kept clean. If some one else takes care of your kitchen you should make it your personal duty to see that it is kept clean, not clean on the surface but all through—cupboards, drawers, shelves, utensils, furniture and mark this, particularly the stuff that is not in sight.

Southern Newspapers Reflecting the South's Prosperity

There is probably no more striking illustration of the remarkable progress of the South during the last few years than that great change which has taken place in the newspapers of the leading towns and cities of that section in that period. It was but a few years ago when there were only a few cities in the South in which the daily newspapers showed through their advertising columns as well as in their news pages any evidence of great business activity. In fact, most of the newspapers had rather an uphill fight, because of the lack of broad advertising by local people. Today the situation is entirely different. In dozens of towns and cities throughout the South the newspapers, which have always been leaders in the upbuilding of the South, are in themselves remarkable illustrations of the vast growth of business of every kind. Papers which a few years ago showed but scanty recognition in their advertising pages of the appreciation by local people of the value of advertising are now crowded with a variety and an amount of advertising indicative of the life and activity of the community. In fact, some of them are evidently at times almost tempted to follow the example of a commercial paper, once well known, with which the writer was acquainted, whose advertising grew so rapidly that one day there appeared at the head of the editorial column this announcement: "Owing to the great press of advertising, all editorial matter is omitted from this issue." In that particular case the business manager, and not the editor, was responsible for the makeup, and he believed the advertisements in the paper were more interesting to the public as well as to the publishers, than editorial stuff. He believed that a business activity which swamped the columns of his paper with advertising matter to the exclusion from that issue of all editorials indicated the prosperity of the community far better than anything the unfortunate editor might have laboriously written.

While Southern papers may not have the opportunity of following this example, they are at least every day becoming more and more in themselves advertisements of their communities. The outside man not familiar with the South who picks up a daily paper from any one of its leading cities will get an impression about Southern business life and activity that will necessarily have a lasting effect. It might, indeed, be a good policy for every business man in the South, after he has read his local paper, to mail it to some friend elsewhere. The influence for good could hardly be estimated. It is quite certain that every paper sent from any part of the South to Northern or Western friends would be read, and it could not be read without creating a new impression about business activity in the South.

If every banking-house, for instance, would make it a rule to have the daily papers which it receives mailed after they have been read to its correspondents in other sections, taking by turns the names on its list, it would find the small postage returned a thousandfold through a closer acquaintanceship and an enlarged business with its outside banking friends. The same is true as in every other line of business in the South. No man is doing business in that section without having acquaintances or correspondents elsewhere. Let everyone make it a rule to send to some outside friend every copy of his daily paper which now goes to the waste-basket after it has been read. In the aggregate millions of copies of Southern papers would in this way annually reach people in other sections. The cost is small; the value to the South would be great.—Manufacturer's Record.

Pert Paragraphs

There are plenty of men who give advice, but few who have sufficient confidence in it to take their own.

A man can't so heartily rejoice when merry springtime comes when he has half an acre of lawn to mow.

It is always a shock to a woman finds that sonny played they were rabbit's eggs just to please her.

The aeroplane may be a glowing success, but it hasn't yet got ahead of old Dobbin as a family favorite.

The woman who doesn't think new spring styles are perfectly ravishing is suspected by her sisters of being a suffragette.

You can't tell how much money a man will contribute to a cause by the way he shouts for it.

The woman who can make twenty cent coffee taste like the forty-five cent article need never be out of a job.

Many a man who wouldn't have a titled son-in-law at any price would like to be able to afford one.

Most men quit the reform movement when it reaches their own home.

To a girl half the fun in getting married is, in keeping her friends guessing when it will be.

Miss Verda Oates of Madisonville visited friends here Sun.

Mark Twain Said---

"When a man goes to buy a collar, he comes home with a collar and perhaps a necktie, but when a woman goes to buy a collar, she returns with a new silk waist, a pair of gloves, ten yards of dress goods, several toilet articles, some window shades and a refrigerator."

We've always admired Mark Twain, and now, to see if his business logic is as sounds as his humor we have put on a display of window curtains and rugs.

If you are one of those women who buy curtains or a rug this week, you will always be glad you did so, and you will be doubly glad you came in here to get them.

The C. A. Morton guarantee of the quality covers them all, and this week quality and price are exceptional.

You'll also be glad if you buy a Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet.

GREAT BIRDMEN TO FLY

At the Courier Aviation Meet in Evansville June 9 and 10.

That Glenn Curtiss birdmen will bring out the largest crowd that was ever entertained is an assured fact. The railroads, the traction lines, the steamboat companies and the merchants of Evansville have all put their shoulders to the wheel and are doing everything in their power to make it a success.

This is the first aviation meet ever held in Southern Indiana and the second of any consequence in the state, and the fact that the Evansville Courier is bringing this meet to Evansville is in itself a guarantee that the first aviation meet of Southern Indiana will be a great success. The Courier is to be congratulated on having two such famous fliers as Lincoln Beachey and C. C. Witmer assigned to this meet. Beachey is considered the foremost American flyer now before the public and is much in demand at the Eastern meets. The New York papers rank him along with Hoxey and Johnston as a dare devil, a man absolutely unafraid and for whom no chance is too great. Witmer is noted for his altitude flights, and while in Evansville he will try to establish a new record. Witmer will also be entered in the five mile race against an automobile.

Other exciting events will be pulled off, a five and a ten mile motorcycle race, automobile races, High School track meet open to all High Schools in Ind., Ill., and Ky., for which suitable prizes will be offered by the Evansville merchants.

Special low rates are offered on all railroads, steamboat and traction lines entering Evansville.

Tickets are now on sale at the Courier office.

Can't Always Sometimes Tell.

At Reno the police, coroner, and undertaker had pronounced a man dead, when he sat up and asked for a glass of beer. They hadn't thought of offering him a glass of beer to discover if he was dead.

Mrs. D. M. Evans was in Madisonville Mon. shopping.

A Tough Meal.

Tastes differ strangely from age to age. Flamingoes' tongues were an epicurean luxury in Roman days, but the authors of "Unexploded Spain," who experimented with them, found no pleasure in the meal. "The tongue," they say, "is a thick fleshy organ, filling the whole cavity of the mandibles, and furnished with a series of flexible, bony spikes or hooks nearly half an inch long and curving inward. We found them quite uneatable—tough as India rubber. Even our dogs refused to eat the delicacy."

It's made by our secret process—and is universally acknowledged the one and ONLY absolutely perfect roofing. Amalgamated ARC ROOFING is standard and takes the same insurance rate as slate or metal. Our agents are authorized to refund money in full if Amalgamated ARC ROOFING should fail to satisfy.
